The examination and study regulations state that required elective subjects become required subjects upon registration. As a consequence required elective subjects must be passed.

Subjects taken early

If you would like to register subjects as a required elective subject which are not pre-approved as such (see subject list), the registration must be approved by the dean of studies in advance. Required subjects taken earlier than normal must also be approved by the dean of studies. In either case, this form may be used as an application for approval.

Required elective subject is not offered in following semester

If a required elective is taken by a student but not completed and is not offered in the following semester (or one of the following semesters), upon application by the student, the dean of studies will approve an alternative subject which should be completed. This also applies when the approved subject is not compulsory.
